PASADENA NEWS.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT THE CHURCHES.

The Congregational Services—The Presbyterians—Gambling Heathens—Here and There—Interesting Local Items.

PASADENA, June 9.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Today was observed as Children's or Flower Sunday in many of the churches. The Presbyterians and Congregationalists held appropriate services, and a large number of the Sabbath-school children were present. The decorations were very elaborate, and the floral displays showed good judgment in the selection. Next Sunday the children of the Methodist Church will celebrate the event. At the FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH there was an audience of about three hundred people. The pulpit and choir loft were handsomely decorated with yucca and beautiful roses. Back of the choir rose toward the ceiling a floral representation of Jacob's ladder, made of evergreen, and dotted here and there with fragrant flowers. Pots of flowers stood near the pulpit, and a vase of Canterbury bells was the admiral of all.

The services opened shortly after 11 by the singing of the doxology followed by the anthem, "Glorious is the King of Israel!" by the choir. Then came the reading of the second chapter of the Songs of Solomon in the new version by Rev. D. D. Hill. After the hymn, "Thine Earthly Sabbath Lord We Love," had been sung, and prayer for comfort to the flood and fire sufferers invoked, the morning collection was taken up.

During the intermission Mrs. Clapp sang, with good effect, "Come Unto Me," after which G. A. Gibbs, Esq., on behalf of the Board of Trustees, read the financial statement of the church during the past six months.

It showed that up to June 1st, $2155 had been collected and $206.70 disbursed in the half year. To test the working advantages of the envelope system, the largest weekly collection by this method had been $129.45 and the average $23.14 each Sunday. Without the envelope the highest weekly collection was $20.25 and the average about half this amount. The total average was $34. There was still due on pastor's salary $300. The receipts from collections showed a marked increase over the same period of last year.

Rev. D. D. Hill then took the stand, selecting his text from the 12th verse of the second chapter of Solomon's songs, "The flowers appear on earth and the time for the coming of the birds has come." After singing of the abundance of flowers and the will of God that all men should be supremely happy he said in substance: "The mission of flowers is to cultivate a sense of the beautiful. Flowers have a usefulness, and their beauty is usefulness if it is only perceived. The Persian in the far East delights in its perfume, while the Indian child of the wild West delights as he plucks the blossoms. Flowers deck the brow of the bride, as well as festoon the altar. Flower or children's day originated in England, from the time when the Princess of Wales in passing through the soldiers' hospital, let fall the bouquet she was carrying, which gave each enfeebled hero a beautiful flower. Flowers, too, have saved fathers from scrofula. They are the delights of the ages, and are studied carefully by the man of science. We should not love flowers so much as to steal them. I am glad to know that the children take so great a pride in the church grounds, for each flower planted therein is dedicated to the worship of God."

Flowers, too, reveal to us God's thoughts. What a desolate place the world would be without the floral kingdom to tell us His thoughts. Flowers, also teach us that man does not live alone, for to the prisoner confined in his narrow cell, it tells him to believe in God.

Again, they teach us God's providential care, the frailty of man and a warning to seek for the development of the inner life, for we sere here to reap in the fields of Paradise. It is for us, then, to make the desert blossom as the rose."

This evening the Young People's Society of the church, under the charge of Supt. A. K. Nash, gave a literary and musical programme. The attendance was much larger than at the morning services.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH. Children's day was observed in the morning at 11 o'clock with appropriate exercises. The following programme was rendered:

The cards and outfit were captured, with 14 of the players. The job was done so quickly that many of the heathens did not find time to say "Jack Robinson," even if they knew how. One of the gamblers gave $10 for his appearance and the others were brought to the city calaboose to await a hearing tomorrow morning. The arrest was made at midnight.

C. F. LUMMIS.

The News of His Calamity Confirmed.

A letter received from Dr. Dorothea Lummis, dated Chillicothe, O., June 4th, says: "I have just heard from Isleta that Mr. Lummis had another shock of paralysis yesterday afternoon, and is speechless and his left side helpless."

In view of this calamity Mrs. Lummis' plans for her trip to Europe are indefinitely postponed. She will endeavor to have Mr. Lummis removed to Chicago, where he can be properly cared for and receive the best medical attention.

Deserted and Destitute.

The San Francisco Call says that Mrs. E. Price arrived in that city from Los Angeles last Friday in response to a request from her husband to come at once. The address of the husband was given at 721 Clay street, but on arriving at the house she found that no person by the name of Price was known there. The woman appealed to the police for assistance, as she was in destitute circumstances.

NO LONGER A TERROR.

Modern Treatment That Cures Constipation.

According to the San Francisco dailies a remedy has been discovered that almost entirely overcomes constipation. It is the new laxative principle in Joy's Vegetable Saraparilla. The papers are full of recent occurrences confirming its efficacy, and we give place to their last sensation, a case from San Francisco's well known lady magnate. She says: "I am willing to relate the following experience. I have for years had a weak stomach attended with constipation, and never found but preparation that helped me and that soon wore out and lost its effect; and I suffered till I tried Joy's Vegetable Saraparilla. It helped me in every way and has thoroughly reorganized me. I had one of the most sensitive of stomachs and was in continual distress, but can with the aid of Joy's Vegetable Saraparilla now eat any and everything with my old accustomed freedom without any ill effects. I am glad to know that the children take so great a pride in the church grounds, for each flower planted therein is dedicated to the worship of God."

It helped me in every way and has thoroughly reorganized me. I had one of the most sensitive of stomachs and was in continual distress, but can with the aid of Joy's Vegetable Saraparilla now eat any and everything with my old accustomed freedom without any ill effects. I am glad to know that the children take so great a pride in the church grounds, for each flower planted therein is dedicated to the worship of God."

Flowers, too, reveal to us God's thoughts. What a desolate place the world would be without the floral kingdom to tell us His thoughts.

Flowers, also teach us that man does not live alone, for to the prisoner confined in his narrow cell, it tells him to believe in God.

Again, they teach us God's providential care, the frailty of man and a warning to seek for the development of the inner life, for we sere here to reap in the fields of Paradise. It is for us, then, to make the desert blossom as the rose."

This evening the Young People's Society of the church, under the charge of Supt. A. K. Nash, gave a literary and musical programme. The attendance was much larger than at the morning services.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Children's day was observed in the morning at 11 o'clock with appropriate exercises. The auditorium was beautifully decorated with evergreen wreaths, from which was suspended bouquets of one-color flowers.

The services were largely attended, and eleven canary birds in six cages warbled their notes of thanksgiving while the voices of the congregation went up to God. The following programme was rendered:

O. F. LUMMIS.

The News of His Calamity Confirmed.

A letter received from Dr. Dorothea Lummis, dated Chillicothe, O., June 4th, says: "I have just heard from Isleta that Mr. Lummis had another shock of paralysis yesterday afternoon, and is speechless and his left side helpless."

In view of this calamity Mrs. Lummis' plans for her trip to Europe are indefinitely postponed. She will endeavor to have Mr. Lummis removed to Chicago, where he can be properly cared for and receive the best medical attention.

RAYMOND, the excursion manager, says the reason travel to California has been less lately is that "times haven't been so dull in New England for thirty years, as during the past six months."

THERE is a general belief among prominent horticulturists of the State that we overdo irrigation, and thereby injure the growth and quality of our fruits. Less water and more thorough cultivation are needed.

A LONDON dispatch says the American raisins will soon largely supply the London market. London dealers are much pleased with them. California will soon supply the world with preserved fruits and vegetables.

S THE Fresno Republican says that as much as $50 an acre has been paid for the rental of tule lands, for the cultivation of cucumbers for pickles. If that is the case, what ought our Westminster peat lands to be worth for this purpose?

IT seems that the Atchison Company has got around its proposed reduction of $5 a month, which was successfully resisted by its employees, by reducing its staff. The officers of the company will undoubtedly abstain from carrying such reduction beyond the safety point.

IT is now claimed that the glowing accounts of Sybil Sanderson's musical performance in Paris were written in advance, and published in America before she sang. We thought the three and four column "cables" in some of our enterprising contemps had a somewhat fishy and "previous" look about them.

THE Herald prints what is supposed to be a reply to our criticism of its rainbow-hued statement about the profits of orange culture, but as our contemporary in the same article refers to "grafted" oranges, we shall cease further discussion of the subject until it learns something about the rudiments of orange culture in Southern California.

FALSE reports about Los Angeles do not keep people from coming here to reside. Mr. Morrison, of Kansas City, has been here several times, but has now come with his family to permanently reside. Kansas City has quite a colony in this city, and there are numerous masculine "Angels" who will rejoice to know that the Belle of this family has come back for good.

THESE is said to be a serious divergence between Lord Salisbury and Queen Victoria, and all because Lord Salisbury refused to vote for the bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister, which the Queen has for a long time, on personal grounds, desired to see passed. It is difficult for the average American citizen to understand the objection of a portion of the English aristocracy to a man's marrying the sister of his deceased wife. It would appear as if no more suitable person would be found to take charge of a motherless family.

THEY had a great time at Rome yesterday over the unveiling of the statue of Giordano Bruno, which ceremony the Pope chose to consider as an insult to the church. Bruno was an Italian philosopher of the sixteenth century, who entered the Dominican order at an early age, but, becoming skeptical, was forced to leave it, and fled to Geneva, afterward going to Paris and England, in both of which places he wrote a number of philosophical works. He then went to the University of Wittenberg, and afterward traveled from one German university to another, lecturing. Until venturing to return to Italy, he was arrested by the Inquisition in Venice, and delivered to the Roman authorities, where he was imprisoned for seven years, tried, degraded, excommunicated, and finally burned at the stake. He was a man of great mental activity and boldness of thought.

A FALSE IMPRESSION.

The Rev. Dr. Bartlett, president of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., has been visiting St. Louis, after a trip to Southern California, and gave a Globe-Democrat reporter his impressions of this section.

The Doctor's opinion of Southern California and Los Angeles, unlike that of many other Eastern critics, is very favorable. After stating that the boom had temporarily demoralized things, he admits that "the business tact, intelligence, and wonderful energy of the people had met this natural revulsion so systematically as to make them today reasonably prosperous and endowed with a sense of confidence in the future, wholly justified by the enormous resources and productiveness of the country." He considers Los Angeles a marvelous example of the growth of what he—with that charming geographical ignorance regarding Pacific Coast matters which distinguishes Eastern people—denominates "Lower California." Our climate he considers "simply incomparable," and says that if Los Angeles were 1000 instead of 3000 miles from the East, it would be constantly crowded with those seeking relaxation, and particularly so during the rigid winters East. Altogether, this section greatly reminded the Doctor of Palestine.

A POSSIBLE FLOOD DANGER.

Citizens of Downey have called a public meeting of residents of that vicinity, to devise means to clear the bed of the Old San Gabriel River of obstruction. The Champion, published at Downey, says that for several miles a dense growth of timber and underbrush has taken possession of what was once the river channel and the rapid accumulation of débris is becoming such a serious cause of alarm that energetic steps should be taken at once to avert the threatened danger. So rapidly and to such an extent has the river become obstructed that at any unusual high stage of water, which is likely to occur during the winter season, the stream would leave its bed, and wide destruction of property and possible loss of life would result in consequence.

The attention of the Board of Supervisors has, it seems, been called to the matter, and they have caused a survey to be made and had the bounds of the channel defined, but to accomplish anything substantial the cooperation of property-owners along the river is necessary, and it seems that there are one or two narrow-minded persons who refuse to act.

One would imagine that the recent terrible havoc caused by floods in the East would lead all our citizens to willingly and actively provide against the occurrence of any similar calamity in this section. If a few are so shortsighted as not to be willing to cooperate for the common good, there should be found means to compel them to do so.

SAN DIEGO is raising the price of its property 20 per cent. a day on the strength of the confidence of the O. steamers. Real estate agents down there are advising citizens to go a little slow in this upward movement, as it is scaring off buyers.

The Rose Case.

There were no new developments in the Rose case yesterday. Fred McGregor has not yet turned up, and his friends say that he will hardly do so until after the final report of the Grand Jury. They also claim that another reason why McGregor will not come forward is because he thinks Judge Cheney is prejudiced against him. It was reported on the streets last evening that Messrs. Payton & Grant had withdrawn from Rose's case, and that Stewart & Barham had taken it up. This, however, was denied by Mr. Payton, who stated that he intended to see his clients through.

Interest in the New Cable.

A great many people improved the day and the opportunity yesterday in taking a ride on the new cable railroad, and nearly all of the sightseers stopped at the power-house to take a look at the ponderous machinery that keeps the cable spinning. Manager Robinson extends a general invitation to the public to inspect the machinery, and somebody will be present all the time to explain its workings.

An Envious Organ Answered
(San Bernardino Courier.)

Our Los Angeles contemporary, the Tribune, is informed that the Courier has admired THE TIMES, because it likes a paper that has dauntless courage and brilliant ability; a paper that knows how to write and how to fight; a paper that cannot be swerved from doing what it considers to be its duty, either by the persuasions of friendship or the malice of enmity; a paper that never trims or fawns or flinches; a paper that assails the powerful with more gusto than it does the weak or unifluous; a paper that has a clearly-defined policy and the courage and resolution to adhere to it with unflinching consistency; a paper whose friendship is to be prized, whose opposition—the well-regulated paper has no enemies, your knowledge is to be dreaded—the Courier admires THE TIMES because it is such a paper as we have delineated above. The Courier has nothing in the world against the Tribune, which has invariably been not only just but generous toward San Bernardino.

We are glad to see it surmounting its difficulties. We wish it well, but frankly, it does not fill our sense in the sense in which THE TIMES does. Nor is this the first time in which we expressed such an opinion of THE TIMES. We said much the same thing two years ago.

All others were too show.

She'd only smile upon the superfine,—

By Telegraph to The Times.

SACRAMENTO, June 9.—[By the Associated Press.] This afternoon the body of a man was found very near the railroad track between this city and Davisville. Investigation showed that the man had been foully murdered. His skull had been crushed in several places with some blunt instrument, and lying near the body was a boulder, covered with blood, and it is presumed that this was the murderous weapon. The body had been disengaged about 20 feet, and thrown face downward, and an old barley sack thrown over the head.

There were evidence of a terrible struggle. The object was evidently robbery, as the victim's pockets were all turned inside out. Letters found in the pocket of the murdered man indicated that his name was Mike Hawes, and that he had been born in 1855 in Ireland. He was probably a farm lad 16, and it is believed he was murdered to get money by tramps.

Constable Today arrested two men suspcion and lodged them in jail. The inquest will be held tomorrow.

BASE-BALL.

Almost a Fight During a Game at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—[By the Associated Press.] "Big Turk" Burke, captain of the Sacramento base-ball team, conducted himself in such a loud and boisterous manner when coaching members of his club during the progress of the game at Haight street this afternoon that Umpire Sheridan in the seventh inning awarded the game to the Oaklands by a score of 9 to 0.

The Sacramentos had made seven runs when the game was called. A fight was imminent, but the police forced the crowd on the diamond. Aldrich, the new pitcher for the Oaklands, pitched a good game.

STOCKTON 7—SAN FRANCISCO 2.

STOCKTON, June 9.—The Stockton defeating Franco this afternoon by a score of 7 to 2. Both of San Jose and San Francisco were earned. Harper and McJunkins made their only runs in the game, while Sheas and Hayes and a double by Hanley and a home run by Donahue and Levy.

In the ninth, Stockton made their only runs in the game, while Sheas and Hayes and a double by Hanley and a home run by Donahue and Levy.

The Stockton made four in the third, and scored on Buckley's single, and sent Buckley home with a three-run, and scored on Whitehead's single, got a base on balls, and scored on a double by Buckley.

The features of the play were the hitting of Buckley and second-base play of Dona-

BASE-BALL.

Almost a Fight During a Game at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Today has been quiet.

The smoldering fires in the base-mills have all burned out except in half a dozen places.

The military patrol and regulations are still kept up.

The committee appointed has prepared a new platting for the business portion of the city. The streets will be made 90 feet and the alleys 34 feet. A meeting of citizens and the City Council will be held tomorrow to complete these arrangements.

Most of today has been spent in getting safes out of the ruins and putting up tents.

Tomorrow large gangs will be put to work clearing away the ruins preparatory to erecting buildings.

The citizens still maintain a cheerful confidence for the future and are anxious to get to business at once.

Most of them are still continuing to work.

Telegrams of sympathy and aid still continue to come in. There is no reason why there should be any suffering as the relief committees are supplying food to all.

At a meeting of the Relief Committee it was decided to thank the various companies if they were able to contribute all contributions, which will be distributed under direction of the committee.

A VERY HOPEFUL VIEW.

CHICAGO, June 9.—D. H. Gilman, a prominent railroad man of Seattle, Wash., who arrived in Chicago today, left Seattle the day before the big fire, but says that he has seen that his knowledge of the city, the loss will prove Seattle's benefit.

"The part of the city burned," he says, "is confined almost wholly to the business districts. It consisted of many fine large buildings, but in nearly every case these structures are surrounded by blocks of wood-frame buildings. The loss of which, knowing that they will be replaced by larger and more substantial ones, is compensation for the more expensive structures destroyed."

The fire did not reach any of the houses.

At the moment, he says, the fire did not extend beyond the business district.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES

RACING OF THE PAST AND SOME ANTICIPATIONS.

Donovan, the Derby Winner—Don José's First Appearance—Flyaway—Jerome Park Races—Suburban Handicap—The Manning-Mulholland Fight.

Wednesday last the great event of the English turf was decided in favor of the Duke of Portland's Donovan, who cantered home in front of his field, an easy Derby winner by a length and a half. He was followed home by Mr. J. Gretton's Miguel and Douglas Baird's El Dorado, in the order named, and so for two years in succession has the Lord of Welbeck carried off the much coveted Blue Ribbon of the English turf.

Donovan was a hot favorite, and most of the money invested in the local book, open on this event, was placed to his name, as his fame has extended to this side of the Atlantic. Donovan is sound in every respect, and should nothing unfortunately happen to him, he will in all probability remain on the turf for another two years. When his racing career is over, there are many things more unlikely to happen, than that he should stand in America, as there are several of our turf magnates who would bid well up to six figures to secure him.

Don José, stable companion to the late Czar, and presumably the best 3-year-old now left in Mr. Theodore Winter's string, made his first appearance in the East on Thursday last, where he carried off the Chicago Horseman stakes at St. Louis in very easy fashion. Don José had behind him Zulu and Spartaman, but they were simply unable to make him gallop, and the turfmen who saw him win are much impressed with his style of going. Don José is undoubtedly a useful colt, but it is very improbable that he will succeed in winning for his popular owner the Chicago Derby, and he cannot be recommended as a good investment for that event.

Don José starts at St. Louis today, and as the company is not very speedy, he ought to secure another easy victory.

Unlike Mr. Winters, the owner of the Santa Anita stable, is unfortunate in having a very second-rate lot of animals to represent him this season, and it seems as if his victories would be few and far between. Los Angeles would seem to be the best of the string, but on Wednesday last she had to lower her colors to Terra Cotta, over the mile and a quarter course at St. Louis, after a whipping finish. Amigo, the 2-year-old, is very moderate, and we shall have to work for Honduras and St. Cecilia, the crack 2-year-olds of the stable, to retrieve the fortunes of the Maltese Cross jacket.

Judging from the form shown by Flyaway, who on Tuesday fairly walked away from a large field at St. Louis, her brilliant conqueror, Fairy Queen, must be indeed a wonder, and her next appearance in public will be awaited with considerable interest.

The racing at Jerome has been moderate only, and on Friday Zephyrus beat Diablo over the mile and an eighth course, at a difference of 15 pounds. This is the first defeat suffered by the son of Bolus thus season, and looking Zephyrus has proved himself to be pretty smart at the distance.

As the day approaches for the decision of the suburban handicap, interest in the race greatly increases. Raceland becomes firmer in the quotations every day, and, from present appearances, he will start a very hot favorite. Looking at the maines in which he defeated Firenze on Thursday; at Jerome Park, it is doubtful to see where his conqueror will be found, and, even at his present short price, he is a remarkably good investment.

The starters for this big event will be chosen from the following horses, and Rodman & Co. have them on their list as below:

Five to 1 on Raceland, Prince Royal and Terra Cotta, 6 to 1 Badge, 8 to 1 Hanover and Inspector B., 10 to 1 Aurora, 15 to 1 Gorgo, Bella B. and Solbranze, 20 to 1 Barrister and Elkwood, and 33 to 1 Montague, Eolo, Champagne Charlie and Quito.

THE RING.

Something About the Manning-Mulholland Match.

The fight between Billy Manning and George Mulholland, which occurs at the rooms of the Southern California Athletic Club, on the 25th of this month, is exciting more interest in this city than any event of the kind which has occurred here for the past two years.

Billy Manning, the local lightweight, has a host of admirers in Southern California, and he has the reputation of being an honest fighter, and game as a bulldog.

His opponent, George Mulholland, was born in Sydney, N.S.W., in 1866, so he is about 23 years of age. In height he is 5 feet 7 inches, and his usual fighting weight is 133 pounds. On this occasion he will fight at about 138 pounds, the articles calling for him to scale at that weight or less. Mulholland has fought and won 23 battles, his last contest being at the California Athletic Club, San Francisco, where he fought an 87-round draw with Billy Mahon. Mulholland did the earlier part of his training, after signing articles, at Santa Monica, but a week ago he came up to Los Angeles and will finish his preparations here.

He rises at 6 a.m., and after drinking an egg beaten up in a small glass of sherry he takes an easy walk of about two miles. This finished, he takes breakfast, consisting of a rare steak, griddled, a little dry toast and one cup of weak black tea. After breakfast he rests for an hour, and after that he sets out for a twenty-mile spin, go-as-you-please. This helps to remove any superfluous flesh he may have on him, and after a two-minutes' rest in the hall, he removes his clothes and gets a dry rub from his trainer. This over he stands for a few minutes under the shower bath and his trainer again takes him in hand, wiping him thoroughly dry with rough towels. His trainer then puts him through a course of massage treatment with rubbers and the bare hand and finally rubs him all over with alcohol, rubbing it till it dries.

A rest of three hours is followed by a dinner, consisting of rare roast beef or mutton, washed down by a small bottle of English ale.

In the afternoon about 3 p.m. the pugilist sets out for a two hours' spin as fast as he can go, and coming home, he punches the heavy bag for a short time, and helps the muscles of his legs with the aid of a skipping-rope. Another shower-bath is followed by a rest till supper time, which arrives at 8 p.m.

After supper he punches the bag for half an hour, gets another rub down from his trainer, and at 9 p.m. turns in for the night.

Mulholland looks in very good condition and will undoubtedly give a great account of himself on the 25th. His present weight is 136 pounds, but he will build up two pounds between now and the night of the fight.

NATIONALISTS.

A League Formed—Temporary Officers.

Notwithstanding the very recent nativity of the nationalistic order, Turners' Hall was well filled yesterday, at 3 p.m., by citizens of Los Angeles. The meeting was called for the purpose of preparing for a permanent organization, the list of membership now numbering 50.

A. C. Fish was elected chairman of the meeting and Miss Louise A. Off secretary.

Mr. Fish is an earnest and dignified speaker, and said in substance that he had read Bellamy's "Looking Backward," and was most profoundly impressed by the rational light brought to bear upon this vast and ancient theme of social reform. There is more substantial matter in this book than in any other work of the nineteenth century. It exhibits the keenest analysis of the greatest problems of the age and comes to reflective minds like a revelation. It leads us to consider the parasitic system of monopoly and its sad effects upon humanity at large. "Every time I send a message to New York," he said, "I pay a silver dollar, 90 cents of which goes to a man who has more wealth than he knows what to do with. Every time I light my lamp I increase the worth of a man to whom $150,000 is a trifle. And so examples might be cited ad infinitum, while the simplicity and perfect dispatch of our postal system, as conducted by the governmental head, is apparent to everyone. The virtues of a movement that will reform our competitive system are incalculable."

Mr. Fish concluded his remarks by saying that he felt thoroughly aware of the great meaning and extent of this cause, and that he hoped that the leading and representative men of this city would not fail to come forward and identify themselves with a movement so important to the weal of mankind. He suggested that the practical and permanent organization of the society be postponed until a greater number of the leading thinkers and philanthropists had been enlisted. For it is a humiliating fact that, even in our land of independence, whenever a new fraternity with Utopian principles is established, the first questions suggested do not regard principles so much as personalities; such as these: "Who is connected with it?" "What plane of society does he or she represent?" "Are they persons of standing?" etc.

And in a cause covering so great a scope as this, it is important that the great thinkers and leaders of the world shall be its primary advocates, and give substance and character to its single organized bodies.

He then read the names of the leading minds of the East who are connected with this society and contributors to its monthly organ, the Nationalist, such men and women as Edward Everett Hale, Frances E. Willard, Mary A. Livermore, Col. Higginson, Gen. A. Doubleday, etc.

At the close of the interesting remarks by the speaker, a desire to organize once and thus make practical action possible, but after thoughtful consideration pro and con it was decided to postpone organization and to elect temporary officers until further communication had arrived from Boston.

Mrs. Kingsbury suggested that it would be best to "make haste slowly," and as intelligence must precede work, to begin intelligently and systematically.

Mr. Hunter made the motion to form a temporary association, which was seconded and unanimously carried. Mr. Fish was nominated for temporary president, Miss L. A. Off temporary secretary, and Mr. Neubauer treasurer, which officers were unanimously elected.

The principles of the Nationalists of Boston were then read, with interesting interpolations by the president. The motion was made and seconded that the Boston principles be adopted by the Los Angeles society, to be supplemented later by such additions as might be found practicable. This was unanimously carried.

In conclusion a committee of three was appointed, consisting of Mrs. A. F. Smith, Mr. Biddle and Mr. Neubauer, for the arrangement of future meetings, selection of speakers, and the attention to the general affairs of the society. A vote of thanks was offered to Mrs. Smith for her constant and faithful services in behalf of the Nationalists.

The League will meet next Sunday at 3 p.m. at Turners' Hall. Able speakers will be prepared to lecture upon the subject under review.

ADVERTISING "PATRONAGE."

The word "patronage" came into printing parlance very early in the history of the art. The printers, like the scholars and artists, were clients or dependents on great men whose only title to distinction was in the parchments that described the landed estates; and so it came to pass that every man who inserts an advertisement in a newspaper forthwith becomes its "patron," supporter, protector, and the opinion is quite general that he who advertises in a paper confers an obligation, and in some cases a gratuity on the publisher. Some advertisers feel that the publisher of a newspaper is under an obligation for their patronage, and, if offended, threaten to withdraw it. Newspaper men should omit no opportunity that offers itself to teach their patrons that they confer greater obligations than they receive. No man advertises unless he expects to receive more than the worth of the money he pays. The publisher is under no more obligation to his advertiser than the doctor is to his patient, or the lawyer to his client. The business transacted is for mutual benefit.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

ORANGE WINE.
A VALUABLE RECIPE FROM PROF. HILGARD.

LOS ANGELES, May 18.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] A few weeks ago I wrote to you to see if any one could furnish a good recipe for making orange wine, but failed to get any information. I wrote to Prof. Hilgard of the Agricultural College who kindly sent me the following, which has enabled me to make a few gallons of orange wine for an experiment. I hope you will publish it in THE TIMES for the benefit of others of your readers:

"Take one part orange juice, well strained; one part water; three pounds sugar per gallon. Any kind of sugar will do, and the darker the sugar the better will be the wine. Fill up the cask with water, set ten gallons up keep one open to allow of the same for refilling the casks during fermentation. Lay casks on the side, fill full, and leave bung. Do not let it be exposed to too much cold. Fill up the cask every day with the water kept out. The wine is thrown off, and which closely until the wine passes through the stage of alcoholic fermentation. This will usually require from ten to twenty days, or longer if the weather is cool, and can easily be determined by scum ceasing to rise and the color of orange wine. When it arrives at this stage, press the bung in loosely. Watch closely for a few days and as active fermentation ceases, put the bung in fast. Let it stand two months, and then rack off carefully into clean casks. If perfectly clear, seal and let it stand six months before bottling. Be sure your casks are full, for contact with the air will cause the wine to pass into acetic fermentation. Considerable wine from oranges has been manufactured. Find out the demand for it has been very good at $5 per gallon. The wine continues to improve with age, and there is no earthly reason why the 'culls' should not be used for that purpose."

The above recipe could be used with great success with the Washington navel fully ripe, as it has about .90 to .85 of acid and .11 to .12 of sugar. "But such fruit," remarked Prof. Hilgard in a private note, "as I know buy on the streets, bearing the Los Angeles trade mark of smut and scale, will range only from .10 to .12 of acid, while good wine wants about .6 of acid only. You will have to bring it down by the addition of so much water as to detract seriously from the flavor of the resulting wine, unless made in the manner of red wine, by fermenting on the meat of the orange for, say, two days."

ASHES AS FERTILIZER.

SAN PEDRO, June 1.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Will you please insert the following article in your paper? Farmers in Georgia have been using ashes as a fertilizer. They have found them equal to any fertilizer they have used. I could buy for forty dollars per ton. I concluded to try them for myself, and saved in barrels and bags all my ashes until the following spring, at which time I applied them to corn and pumpkins while the plants were small, driving a sled along the rows and dropping a large tablespoonful of the bud of each plant, with a result that astonished me. I have used sand-plaster in the same way back to back, but consider the ashes the best, as they will also keep off insects. I am now trying ashes on young peach trees set out this spring, putting freely on the young buds and, I believe, if grapevines would try it on young flowers, the result would well repay them; they are equally as good on flowers or lawn. Coal ashes must not be used, as they are of no value.

A PASADENA SEWER CONNECTION.

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I notice by reference to the columns of your paper that the people of Pasadena are beginning to consider the economy of connecting a sewer with the ocean, via Los Angeles.

Long ago we suggested this plan to some of her citizens. It is patent to us that in this way she may have a good and perfect drainage for half the money that any other proposed plan would cost.

If Pasadena connects with the Los Angeles ocean system she can divert alluvial soil from South Pasadena, Lincoln Park, Garvanza and Highland Park.

We have through the Arroyo Seco a neutral track for such a sewer. It is just what should be done. Respectfully,

FRESH LITERATURE.

ARTISTIC JAPAN. A Monthly Journal of Arts and Industries. Conducted by S. BING.

The art-loving world has within the past few years awakened to the fact that art has found some of its most eloquent expressions in the school peculiar to Japanese art. Yet but comparatively little is known by the world of civilization, and still less is understood of the methods of that artistic people, who have been justly denominated "the greatest decorators in the world."

Whatever other benefits this contact with Western nations may have brought to Japan, one thing is certain, that it has had a most disastrous effect upon its art. No one with any understanding of artistic feeling can compare the products which are now being poured into this and other countries in such profusion, with the rare and beautiful specimens which adorn the cabinets of curators, without feeling what a discredit has set in.

Artistic Japan is, therefore, launched with the object of educating the public in the real art of that country; first, by reproductions of examples which the taste of the world has stamped as the purest and best, and which will be selected for their fitness to the requirements of every class of society; and, next, by treatises by those who have made Japanese art the subject of study and who are qualified to speak authoritatively upon the subject.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

The usual Sunday crowds went down to Santa Monica yesterday, although there were but comparatively few bathers, on account of the roughness of the water, there being quite a breeze blowing all during the afternoon.

The First Baptist Church has established a Chinese mission in room 17, in the Wilson block, where services are held every Sunday afternoon. The heathens are learning a number of American hymns, and appear to take considerable interest in the exercises.

The argument on the demur to the complaint in the Orange-county case will be continued this morning before the Superior Court of Los Angeles county sitting in banc. Judge Hutton will conclude his argument for the defendants, and the concluding argument will be made by counsel for the plaintiff.

The constables have challenged the police to play a match game of baseball for the benefit of the Seattle sufferers, and a meeting will be held in Justice Austin's courtroom this evening to make arrangements for the event. There are quite a number of good players on each side, as well as some first-class "russlers" in the way of selling tickets, and if the boys take hold of it as they should they can make a big success of it.

Last evening about 7 o'clock Orr & Sutich received a telephone message from San Pedro, saying that the body of a man had been washed ashore at that place, and for them to come down and bring the Coroner. The name of the man is not known, as yet, nor where he is from, and as Coronet Meredith was about investigating the Action killing, no action was taken last night. Should Mr. Meredith get back in time, he will go down to San Pedro this morning.

The sad intelligence has been received by Messrs. M. A. Newmark & Co. that their partner, Max Cohn, died at Falkenstein, Germany, on the 29th of May. Mr. Cohn had been in ill health for a number of years, and thought a change of climate would benefit him. The news of his death was cabled to his partners. The deceased had a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who will regret to hear of his death. His ability as a business man had long been recognized in Los Angeles and elsewhere.

THE PARNELL FUND.

Correspondence with the Great Irish Leader.

An autograph letter has been received from Hon. Charles Stuart Parnell, acknowledging the receipt of the contribution raised in Los Angeles for the Irish cause, and forwarded in April last to the Irish leader. The correspondence in regard to the matter is interesting. The contribution was a generous one, and came from various sources. The letter written by Mr. McGarry, and the graceful reply of Mr. Parnell are as follows:

Los Angeles, April 22, 1889.
Charles S. Parnell, House of Commons, London, England—DEAR SIR: Inclosed you will please find draft for £300, being the amount raised in Los Angeles by the sympathizing countrymen and friends of liberty in Los Angeles, Cal., to assist in obtaining home rule for oppressed Ireland.

We have watched your steady, patient course with approbation, and have no hesitancy in saying: "Use this to your best advantage."

The liberal-minded people of our anarctic city, including two ex-Mayors (one of them, E. F. Spence, president of the First National Bank), a thorough Irishman, as well as the present active and many one Hon. H. T. Hazard, together with many of our more chivalrous contributors, largely to the success of your cause. The City Hall also did its duty, and all join in wishing "God speed the cause of freedom" and unite in the hope that liberal Englishmen will soon be in a position to say to you: "Let Irishmen manage Irish affairs, and let discord and division cease forever." Kindly remit the sum to T. J. O'Connor. I have the honor to remain very truly yours, D. M. McGARRY, Treasurer.

The response of Mr. Parnell is as follows:

London, May 24, 1889.
Dear Sir: I have duly received your letter of 22 ult., inclosing draft for £300, being the contribution so generously and promptly given by my countrymen and friends in the city of Los Angeles in behalf of the Irish cause.

Kindly convey to the contributors my hearty thanks and my high appreciation of their kindness and sympathy, which are most encouraging to us all at this trying juncture.

I have every confidence that the hope and wish expressed in your letter, of the speedy appearance of the triumph of our cause, is sure of speedy realization. I am, dear sir, yours very truly,

CHARLES STUART PARRELL,
D. M. McGARRY, Esq.

FLIM-FLAM.

A New Kind of Swindling Game to the Fore.

Late Saturday evening W. H. Russell, a "sure-shot" artist who formerly operated extensively on the beach at Santa Monica as well as in this city, who was brought up from Santa Ana and placed in the County Jail to await trial for "film-flamming" a saloon-keeper at that place named S. C. Siler out of $10. The offense was committed on the 5th inst., when Russell and some friends went into Siler's place and got 50 cents' worth of drinks, tendering a $20 gold-piece in payment. Siler made the change, giving a $5 and $10 piece, and the remainder in silver. The fellow managed to juggle the $10 out of the way, and while Siler was busy handed over the balance, with 50 cents, to make even $10, and requested the return of $20, which was handed over without thinking. The "film-flam" looks like too bold a swindle to catch any man in his right mind, but it is an old trick, and has been worked for years in the East. The thing is to get the man rattled, when the coin is handed over without stopping to think. It is a very hard crime to secure a conviction on, but at any rate Russell will be put where he will be unable to do any mischief for some time.

SLOGGED THE MONGOL.

A Colored Man Does Up Caterer Hen Sing.

Yesterday morning early a fight took place in the Chinese restaurant, on Upper Main street, in which the proprietor, Hen Sing, was badly battered by a negro named Douglass. The men were brought to the police station by Officer Maguire, where Douglass was booked for battery and locked up, while Sing deposited $20 for his appearance as a witness when wanted. Douglass, it appears, went into the restaurant to order a meal, which the Chinaman did not serve to his satisfaction, the upshot of which was that he proceeded to give the Celestial a beating. Sing then telephoned for an officer, and had the man arrested.

Douglass was very facetious when he was brought to the station, insisting that there was nothing the matter with the Chinaman, who, he said, had run against a post. The merits of the case will be looked into today.

THE CLINTONS.

Did Not Impeach His Ex-Wife's Virtue.

In THE TIMES of May 26th an account of the Clinton divorce case was given, with details of the developments in and out of court, ending in a divorce being granted, on the 25th of May, to Mrs. Blanche C. Clinton from her husband, Winfield A. Clinton. The trial was in Judge Shaw's court, Clinton himself being absent at the time. Much testimony was introduced, and the case of the plaintiff was fully made out. Clinton has since returned to Los Angeles, and called at this office on Saturday evening last, in company with Judge Waldheimer, to make a statement, as he claimed, in behalf of his former wife. What he wished to particularly deny was that he ever, drunk or sober, made any charge of infidelity against his wife; and also that his wife now asserts that she never testified that her husband made such a charge against her. Without admitting any material error in THE TIMES's report of the trial, the parties are now given the published benefit of this latest denial. Probably a revival at this time of the scandal would not be profitable to the parties most concerned.

PERSONAL NEWS.

A. A. Hayes, a capitalist of New York, is registered at the Hollenbeck, J. C. Martin, and Miss Martin of Oakland are on a visit to Los Angeles, and have rooms at the Hollenbeck.

E. B. Millar left Los Angeles yesterday for the East. In New York he will be married to Miss Lily L. Hendee. Mr. and Mrs. Millar will start for Paris about the 20th inst., to be gone all summer, and will return by October 1st to Los Angeles, their future home.

Among the many efficient officials upon the Santa Fé there is probably no one more deservedly popular than Mr. John Murphy, conductor of the Pullmans. All who travel with him find his courtesy and attention so uniform and unostentatious that they desire to do something to serve him. It is a good thing to know that politeness in the course of duty is one of the cheapest and best methods of success.

OFFICE:
In the Hollenbeck Block, Cor. Spring and Second Sts., Los Angeles, Cal. Oxygen, Compressed Oxygen, Nitrous Oxide and other inhalations, used in all DISEASES OF THE LUNG

We have introduced the compound oxygen treatment with our system of practices, the cure of Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Rheumatism and Nervous Prostration, with great success. We also treat all diseases of the heart, lungs, kidneys, liver, etc., and all female complaints.

As is well known, Oxygen is the life-giving principle in the air we breathe, and Oxygen is the most abundant element in the atmosphere, especially after thunder storms. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and cannot sleep and work well unless they have more oxygen.

We have introduced the compound oxygen treatment with our system of practices, the cure of Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Rheumatism and Nervous Prostration, with great success. We also treat all diseases of the heart, lungs, kidneys, liver, etc., and all female complaints.

Oxygen acts by purifying the blood. Thereby increases the circulation, promotes respiration, improves digestion, relaxes the muscles, and acts as a gentle stimulant to the nervous system.

London, Eng. Lancet, very truthfully, says: "The compound oxygen treatment is the greatest discovery of the nineteenth century." Clergymen, Statesmen, Lawyers, Physicians, all classes indiscriminately, wherever it is introduced, both use it.

The testimonies given below are very full and complete, and show the remarkable results obtained in these troublous cases:

Dr. Wiliams—DEAR SIR: I am happy to tell you that the cure you effected in me for a chronic disease of the heart, has been permanent. For over a year I was troubled with a post-nasal catarrh and granulated throat disease, and had done much for it, but could not get rid of it. I began my treatment, and now I am perfectly well again.
